

Orroroo

Community Development Plan

October 2022

Foreword

The Orroroo Community Development Action Plan was developed in partnership with the District Council of Orroroo Carrieton and Rural Aid. The plan provides the ideas, themes, strategies and actions to guide community led initiatives, decision making for infrastructure, community programs and service delivery over the coming years.

This plan draws alignment with Council's Strategic and Community Plan; Prosperity and Resilience. It is action based and as a roadmap for Orroroo's Growth and Sustainability, it is intended to deliver outcomes for the community.

Acknowledgements

The formulation of this Community Development Plan was initiated and funded by Rural Aid as part of their 'Ten Towns' Makeover Initiative, of which Orroroo was a winner.

Facilitation of the community engagement process and preparation of the Plan was undertaken by Peter Kenyon from the Bank of I.D.E.A.S. assisted by Jen Curnow-Trotter from Rural Aid and coordinated by Jodie Bouilly, District Council of Orroroo Carrieton Community Projects Officer.

Special thanks to so many passionate Orroroo community members who gave so generously of their time, wisdom and experiences.

Our Story

Situated in the Mid North of South Australia at the base of the spectacular Flinders Ranges, our community of 600 residents is a historic service centre town that retains much of its 1880s charm. It is situated approximately three hour's drive north of Adelaide and one hour to the east of Port Augusta. It is ideally located at the intersection of two major road transport routes from the eastern states, the Northern Territory and Western Australia.

Prior to non-Indigenous settlement, Orroroo was the home of the Ngadjuri Aboriginal people whose domain was the area to the east of the Flinders Ranges. The first settlers, John and James Chambers arrived in 1844, when they took up the 'Pekina Run' pastoral property that covered 320 square miles. The name 'Orroroo' was first used by an early pioneer, Charlie Easter who conducted a nearby coaching house which served travellers on the Burra-Blinman track. The true meaning of the word is uncertain with a variety of interpretations possible. This name was officially given in 1875 by the famous South Australian surveyor-general, George Goyder in 1875 when the town was first surveyed.

The first land sales occurred in 1876. The town was granted its own local council, the District

Council of Orroroo, in 1887. The town was connected by the Peterborough-Quorn railway line to Peterborough and Quorn in 1881 and rail services continued to 1987. An early irrigation scheme was formed after damming the Pekina Creek and creating the Pekina reservoir. Water from here was supplied to more than 50 dairy farms. Orroroo had its own flour mill, several bakeries, carriage manufacturer and a butter factory.

Today Orroroo is a strong and well serviced regional centre for a predominantly farming community whose main focus are grains, sheep and cattle. The community is also evolving into a significant tourism centre with its location central to many heritage, cultural and environmental attractions.

Orroroo is situated near 'Goyder's Line', a line drawn up in 1865 by Surveyor General Goyder which he believed indicated the edge of the area suitable for agriculture. Drought is a common experience for the Orroroo farming area, and with increased climate uncertainty, the community of Orroroo is strongly committed to creating a resilient and sustainable future through innovation, adaption and local leadership.
