

COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Participating in your local council election is one of the most direct ways you can make a difference to everyday life in your community. The community elects their Council Members (including the Mayor) every four years. The next general elections will take place in November 2022. Unlike State and Federal elections, it is not compulsory to vote in South Australian council elections and all voting is done by post. Enrolled voters receive a voting package through the mail and return their votes in a reply paid envelope.

Enrol to Vote

Participating in your local council election is one of the most direct ways you can make a difference to everyday life in your community, and voting is open to a wider range of people than State and Federal elections.

Even if you are not an Australian citizen, and/or not on the State electoral roll, you can enrol to vote in a council election as long as you are over the age of 18 and have lived in the council area for more than one month. You can also vote in a council election if you own a rateable property in the area (regardless of whether you live in it) or represent a body corporate (business/organisation) or a group.

If you are on the State (House of Assembly) electoral roll (at an address within the District Council of Orroroo Carrieton council area) you will automatically receive a voting pack by late October 2022.

If you are not on the State electoral roll within the District Council of Orroroo Carrieton council area, you will need to apply for inclusion on the Council's supplementary roll before 5pm on Fri, 29 July 2022. To find out more about council elections and how the voting system works and to download enrolment forms, visit the our website at www.orroroo.sa.gov.au/elections

From the Council Desk

CEO Chatter: Paul Simpson: Hi again, welcome to Winter and the commencement of the new Financial Year!

This last month has been a busy time at Council as we see off the last Financial Year and tidy up some long term projects including the last of the flood recovery works. I had the good fortune of presenting at the Orroroo Probus Club, this was a great opportunity to meet lots of locals who have plenty of knowledge to share with me about the district. Again I felt warmly welcomed and enjoyed the morning's conversations and the opportunity to share my own path to the District Council of Orroroo Carrieton.

In the last month I was also able to attend the 'Mainly Music' get together at the local Orroroo Community Church with Sarah my partner and Grace my daughter. We thoroughly enjoyed the morning of dancing around the hall, and fortunately for those attending I did not sing. It was a great atmosphere and once again I had the opportunity to meet lots of the local community and importantly the generous volunteers who arrange this weekly event.

Via both my Mainly Music experience and other discussions within the community, it is obvious that there are many young children in this district under the age of four who are in need of more assistance and daytime activities.

The Federal and State Labor governments during elections have clearly stood on the fundamentals of increased access to childcare; after being given a mandate by the polls we now seek to start the conversation around how these governments will support the communities in more remote rural and outback communities. All communities should be offered the access to meaningful quantities of childcare, not just those located in large towns and cities. There are clear links to unlocking the employment potential for parents and the educational potential for the children.

Many of the city areas have a childcare access to services ratio that ranges from 1.4 to 2 children per available childcare placement. The worst of the 'city areas' have a placement ratio of 3 to 4 children per available placement (primarily outer Northern suburbs). The placements available in the Mid North is 8 children per available placement, I'm no mathematician but that's double the worst rate of the city areas.

Dog and Cat registration renewal time begins on July 1^{sr}

Please ensure your dog and/or cat's record is up to date as soon as possible with change of address, microchip or desexing details in Dogs & Cats Online (DACO). All dogs and cats must be registered in DACO. Please note, fees are not charged for cat registration. Any queries please contact Council on 8658 1260.

childcare is not responsibility of local Council which in many aspects is guite correct, 'but if not us, who'? We can and must advocate and agitate to the Federal and State Governments to ensure our rural communities are not left behind. Council's Strategic and Community Plan 2020-2030 calls for strong advocacy to State and Federal Governments for the improvement in essential services such as child care.

With that in mind Council intends to facilitate a community driven working party to start this conversation and understand the needs of our community for the provision of childcare. These programs must be driven by the community to be successful in my experience.

The Legatus local Government group of which Council is a member has recently passed motions at its June Meeting in Melrose, essentially providing endorsement and support to Councils to investigate childcare options. This will involve forms of advocacy more broadly across our membership districts.

The first step for our Council will be arranging for the working party to be created and the second stage will require a comprehensive survey through the Regional Development Australia Yorke and Mid North to ascertain the actual current demand for childcare. Please keep an eye out for this working party creation and the subsequent survey and share widely throughout your network, it is incredibly important to be able to demonstrate our needs. We will have a broad communication plan to ensure it reaches an audience as wide as possible.

I must add that it is important to maintain expectations, these processes often take years to bear fruit, however the journey always starts with one step. Let's see how we go.

Once again to continue the theme of providing a quote that relates to my small discussion articles, this one seems appropriate and provides the vardstick for the newly formed governments to provide much needed assistance.

"I want universal childcare to be a part of the great Australian story' Prime Minister Anthony Albanese 31 May 2022.

Message from the Mayor

Last evening Council staff plus Grant and I attended a get together in the depot to farewell Margaret Chapman who after more than 15 years as a member of Council's administration staff, is retiring. Marge has been an extremely valuable member for all those years, specialising in Council's finance and engineering areas. She has been quietly diligent, a person that simply gets on with the job and her experience and expertise will be very much missed. Over my time in Council she has been our longest serving administration staff member and that is something of which she can be very proud. Congratulations Marge on your tenure and all the best in your retirement.

It's certainly great to have the main street facilities as good as fully functional. No doubt that had we not needed to have them usable throughout the entire renovation it would have been considerably easier for the builder to cope. Thank you all for your patience during the make over & thanks to lan McKendrick on a job well done. We look forward to his work continuing on the new change rooms at the recreation ground.

The facility looks great and will no doubt add to our wonderful reputation in this area.

Likewise, the paving around the Woolshed is looking equally impressive. That section of the Second Street median strip had been crying out for some attention and no doubt the finished product will be something of which we can all be proud. The Settlers Trail stories are coming along also. I can't wait until it's all up and running and the story of Orroroo is available for whoever wants to see and listen to it.

Lastly, the Bypass is seeing some movement. It has been a saga and continues to throw up curved balls but we are persistent and it will get done. That will bring to a close the most prolific amount of infrastructure work ever seen in this Council area in such a short time. Councillors and staff look forward to settling into more normal Council business over the next few years while we all catch our breath.

After Hours Duty Officer

To improve our service delivery Council has implemented an after hours Duty Officer. The Duty Officer can be contacted for urgent matters outside of standard business hours on 0437 949 713. Any matters which are not urgent should be directed to the Council office Monday - Friday on 8658 1260.

Parking on Footpaths

Council has noticed numerous vehicles and trailers that have been parked blocking the footpaths in Orroroo.

Council would like to take this opportunity to advise that vehicles (including trailers) must not be parked with any part of the vehicle on the footpath or footway. Footpaths are not intended to bear the weight of vehicles as damage may be caused to the surface or services located underneath.

A footpath includes footway, lane or other place made or construct for the use of pedestrians and not for use of vehicles. Leaving vehicles and trailers parked on the footpath also creates an obstacle for post/parcel deliveries and pedestrians.

Council requests that vehicles (including trailers) be removed from footpaths and stored in an alternative location. Failure to remove may result in an expiation fee of $106 per offence pursuant to the SA Australian Road Rules Section 197(1).

ORROROO REGIONAL TOURISM GROUP

The Tourism Group is very excited to be able to bring to you the Festival of Small Halls once again. The performers will be Australian based this year due to COVID, a local talent will be showcased.

FRIDAY 26TH AUGUST 7PM The Town Hall will be rocking. Word has it, one of the performers has connections to Orroroo which is very exciting. Watch this space, notice boards and our Facebook page for further details as they come to hand.

The Op-Shop has been busy the last few weeks, thanks to the new volunteers who have come on board, this has enabled us to open more regularly.

We are looking into new shelving and racks, so we can maximise the space.

Discussion is on the way for some community projects the Group would like to investigate, to enhance our town. If you have any items for us to sell, please drop off at Op-Shop or message us on our facebook page or phone Joy to arrange a suitable time for drop off.

The Winter Market will be held on Sunday July 31^{st} .

students Hannah Naismith and Ruby Sheehan with their community project. Well done girls!

This is a collection of random memories of John Stanford, born in 1901 at Farina, South Australia and destined to live and work in the pastoral regions of South Aus.tralia for the greater part of his life-time.

My next venture was in what is known as the North West of South Australia. I went to work at South Gap Station and it was shortly after I went there that World War I finished. I arrived there at shearing time and was put on to ride and lead a pack horse with mail once a week. In the meantime a bit of mustering, etc. After a while I had 2 horses in a buggy and then 4, and above me, stuck on the wall, is a photo taken so long ago of myself with mail coach and 4 mules leaving Bookaloo siding. I was on that mail for quite a while by like all bush lads I would go away on other jobs, but for the same firm. For instance, I would spend quite a time in the mustering camp and then go off on to other jobs on the station. I spent quite a timewith the camels tring. The main job of this was to cart the wool. We had 30 camels; each one would carry 2 bales of wool. The weight each one carried would depend on the size and sex of the camel. For instance, the biggest bull camel would have no trouble to carry 2 4 cwt bales (406kg), whereas a small cow would carry 22 cwt bales (203kg). These would have the ropes attached one day and next morning the camel would be led in and "hooshed" between the 2 bales and when roped on the camel would be stood up and hooked on the line until all was loaded. They were not unloaded till evening time and next morning loaded the same way.

Half way between South Gap and Bookaloo Siding was Whittala Station and Mr HJ Daw and has family lived there for many years and that is where I met the girl who was to become my wife - and that would be the reason for my staying around that particular corner for so long.

South Gap WH Greenfield, proprietor, also owned Roxby Downs Station, 90 miles further north west, and it was quite common for us to take mobs of cattle up there. Also I assisted in bringing one mob of horses down, we took them right through to Wilmington where they were sold for 25/0d. average. I think that would have been about 1922. I have pictures on my workshop wall of a big horse muster we had there (I mean at Roxby) just before the war finished. The Government wanted remounts and Gunners so we mustered, I think, from memory, about 400 or 500 horses, but there had been very heavy rains all the North West that year and as a consequence the Roxby Downs yards were under water and we had to go to and from the homestead which was an island in the swamp.

side to the other at the narrowest place and 2 old cutoff tanks. The idea was to get into the tank and pull on the cable to get across. You had to keep a perfect balance as the tank would tip over and I have seen that happen quite a few times. As a result of the stock yards being under water we took the horses to Purple Downs Station. Their main yards were also under water but they had a set of wire yards on higher ground and we drafted them there. The horse buyer for the Government was a man by the name of G Badman, a name well known in the pastoral industry since. The agent for Dalgety & Co was the late OJ Young then, a member of the Young & Gordon family of Port Augusta. However, after losing a lot of sweat both from man and horse, those horses never went to the War as peace was declared before they left. That is why we still had the big horse muster in 1922 and the sale at Wilmington. We started the horses from Roxby and went by way of Purple Downs, Arcoona, South Gap, Bookaloo, then through Pt Augusta to Wilmington. The distance would have been over 200 miles. They travelled well but when they found themselves in Horrocks Pass they became frightened and shot up the side of one of the steep hills. Fortunately for us there was a fence at the top and we were able to scramble up on foot and turn them in the right direction. It was impossible to ride up the side of those steep hills. One of the pack horses struggled nearly to the top before his pack slipped round under his stomach. When I reached him he was anchored and then when I released the buckles, which by then were uppermost, I had to move quickly to stop the pack from rolling down hill. We put the pack back on; away he went to join the main mob.

About this time wages were not very much. I think I would have been getting L2/10/0d per week but as I was also the colt breaker at Roxby I was getting £1/10/0d per head for everything I broke in and rode, but anything that was only for harness w,c.1.s 10/0d a head. Horses at that time and shortly after were starting on the way out. We were gradually entering the mechanical age and I know of incidents where hundreds of horses were shot after that because there was no sale for them. Also, unlike today, where horses are of commercial value if it is only for pet food.

Actually I have jumped ahead of my story a bit because about 1920, I went back to the north and put in 12 months on Stuarts Creek cattle Station. The manager at that time was the well known Archie McLean and a very fine cattle and horse man he was. We sent many cattle from there to the Adelaide market that year. Cattle prices were not very high then. I remember one extra big bullock going away. I estimate, thinking about him, today he would have dressed one thousand pounds or more and he made £45/0/0d, but today he would possibly make $220.00 or $230.00.

The method used was a wire cable stretched from one out there. We used to fence the springs with a fairly strong yard and leave an opening. The horses would get used to going in and out of this opening and then one day we would place the bayonets. These were sticks with small ends in. The thirsty horses would squeeze in past the points but couldn't get back. When the first yard was full someone camped close by would rush them into another yard and leave the trap empty again. When sufficient horses were yarded for the next day's handling the trap would be left open again. All unwanted or useless animals were destroyed and everything that would make useful stock horses were taken to the head station and broken in immediately - well, that is, in the next week or two. The method of taking them home was interesting. They were run into a sort of crush race and a smart black boy - nis name was Willie Boy would slip a pair of hopples on him while he stood, and that took some doing, too. He was then let out with the tailing mob - that is, the workers and spares which were enclosed in a small wire enclosure, usually a couple of acres. When this mob was started on the road home the brumby would try to go bush, but a horseman with a double of the whip would soon change their minds. They would jump in hopples for a few miles and become terribly cut around the fetlocks. They would then be thrown out in the open and hopples taken off. That is one reason why they had to be broken in, in order to grease the cut and sore fetlocks, but they always made good and hard stock horses.

There were many methods of taking wild horses home. One that I have seen used was to put a greenhide strip from the front foot to the hind foot and while they could get along quite well with this side line on they could not run away. We used to have a lot of fun breaking them in at the station. There was 3 round yards and six of us doing the breaking, three aboriginals and three white men. We did not strike any out-laws in them, but some could deal out a fair hand at bucking. It was a remarkable thing about the horses up there that although the station had a few hundred horses that were not brumby types these all seemed to stay south of the railway line and the brumbys stayed the other side, that is, the Lake Eyre side. I did not think much about this as a lad but I have thought about it since and I would say that neither one liked crossing that railway line. Although it was common enough to find an old branded and broken horse that had got away and gone out with the brumbys sometimes no one knew what horse he was, he would have been gone so long.

As there was no fences in that country, except for a bullock paddock or two, and strange cattle being bought and brought in all the time, there was times when they would make for home, that is, the place or country that they came from. They would stay quietly enough when things were dry and hot on whatever water hole or bore that they happened to be watering on, but as soon as it rained and there was feed or water everywhere they would clear out. This was the time the track riders would be posted out. I was posted at a waterhole not far from old Mt Hamilton Station on a place called Woodcutter Creek with one black boy and I used to ride 20 miles one side and then do the other side next day and any cattle trakcs going out we used to follow till we found them and bring them back inside the "Boundary". Just as an instance of what stirred up cattle will do - I was sitting by the camp fire one night; the air was warm and very still. I heard a splash in the water hole. I told the black boy "Look out longa track in morning". He came back and reported 5 bullock run past in night going north. I caught a horse at daylight next morning and followed those tracks 25 miles away out towards the north end of Lake Eyre. They were northern cattle going home and going straight. I found out afterwards that the musterers were cutting out cattle back south of the head station that day and after they got what fats they wanted and let the rest go these cattle just went for home while stirred up.

It was while I was there that I experienced my first cattle rush, or stampede as it is sometimes known. The whole plant, that is the men, packs, spare horses, camp horses, etc would go out and spend a few days mustering and cutting all fats or sale cattle and when a sufficient number were collected drove them to Coward Springs, but only some would be trucked away, the balance taken out in the sandhill country to the north. There they would be "tailed" all day, that is let feed quietly and watched till nightfall, when they would be put on camp and watched at night. The head stockman would tell each man what times to go on watch and at the end of a set time to come in and wake the next watch. They usually had two night horses but they were never left saddled as a horse suddenly shaking himself with a saddle on would immediately cause a rush, much as would a breaking of a stick or any sudden noise at all. However, this particular night Ben Wilkington was on watch till 12 o'clock and he had to call me and I would go on till 2 o'clock. He had just ridden in to the camp and called me. I had finished saddling the spare horse and put my foot in the stirrup when away they went. Well, the noise caused by a mob of bullocks rushing is something one never forgets. I galloped out after them but in the dark I didn't know where Ben was. Consequently I went on the opposite side of the mob to him. Just as I reached the head of the mob and they were slowing down I could hear Ben further round calling "Whoa, there. Whoa, there, bullocks". My horse put his foot in a hole and over we went in the darkness. I could see the dark forms of cattle near but fortunately they had practically stopped but I couldn't catch my horse and finally he cleared off the join the hoppled horses some distance away on the other side of the camp. I was in a bit of a fix. Ben didn't know where I was - I called to him but the bawling cattle drowned my voice. I then ran well outside the mob and made a run for the campfire. Ben was pushing the cattle back to camp so I stood by the fire so he could see me. I was a bit afraid the cattle would go again in my direction before I got to the fire 1 and sure enough that is just what they did. I couldn't help Ben this time but he eventually got them back .and came over to me and I took his horse to finish my 2 hours. Instead of coming off at 2 o'clock I went on till much later. My horse duly turned up with the rest of the plant horses at daylight next morning.

This mustering would go on till all the cattle were eventually trucked away to the Adelaide market.

NATIONAL CARER SURVEY 2022

Every two years, Carers SA and the National Network of Carer Associations ask Carers to share their opinions and experiences as a Carer. The information and experiences that South Australian carers share with us can then advocate for greater support and recognition of all Carers across SA and Australia.

The National Carer Survey is the survey that counts most when advocating for services and the recognition of Carers in South Australia as well as nationally. As 2022 is a key year of change in the political landscape, I am urging you to make sure that your voice and the voices of as many Carers as possible are being heard. Every Carer's voice counts! Please complete and share the 2022 National Carer Survey as soon as you can. The survey will take about 20 minutes to complete online via this link: http://bit.ly/2022NationalCarerSurvey or scanning the QR Code below

PROBUS REPORT JUNE 2022

Beryl Luke has once again produced an interesting guest speaker. She does a very good job. We were very happy to welcome Paul Simpson, who is the incoming CEO of The District Council of Orroroo Carrieton to speak with us.

Giving an illuminating cameo of his life's journey prior to arrivial in Orroroo, Paul was an entertaining speaker, explaining he was fortunate enough to be brought up in a farming community not too dissimilar to this district. He has worked in rural settings and developed an affinity and understanding of the role of a CEO of a country Council. He and his family are looking forward to immersing themselves in our great community. His door is always open for the ratepayers to visit him. A general discussion was held concerning the future of the Orroroo Probus Club. With diminishing numbers and an inability to replace retiring office bearers, it is challenging to continue. Office bearers are alrady fulfilling many roles and there are no general members interested in stepping up to the position.

Also was discussed was the challenge of hosting a distict luncheon on Monday 10th October, with a diminishing number of members, many who are ageing, frail & unable to participate in the function.

On other business aryising it was decided by consensus to notify Bull Paues of our decision to regretfully withdraw from hosting this event.

John Arthur has agreed to undertake the role of secretary minus production of newsletter. (To be confirmed at next meeting).

It is strange how time can drag along so slow and yet on the other hand the weeks have kept slipping by. It is over nine weeks since I was first admitted to Calvary Hospital and it is hard to believe that it happened so long ago. Yet during this time there has also been many hours in my hospital bed, where I have just watched the second hand on the wall clock go round and round at a very slow pace.

The good news regarding my hospital stays has been that it began at a very low ebb where for the first week I could hardly lift my arms off the bed and survived on intravenous drips. On my last treatment all went well with no reactions and my energy levels and strength continue to improve each day. When we approach situations with a negative mindset it is always going to be hard to get on top of the problem. I have been overwhelmed by the number of enquiries that have come my way. Knowing I am not fighting this battle alone has been a great encouragement to me. If you are battling challenges then I encourage you to surround yourself with people who are willing to walk the walk with you. Of course there can be no greater source of power and support than when we are willing to share our challenges with our Heavenly Father who loves us and cares greatly about our needs and welfare.

Not sure when I will be able to submit another report so until then,

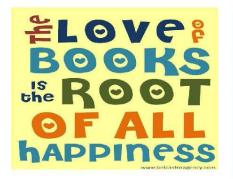

God bless, John Cozens

As I look around I find that I am not alone when it comes to having to face challenges in life. In fact nearly every one of us has some kind of challenge to face, which can come in so many different forms. The key is of course how we respond to our own personal situation.

CARRIETON NEWS

Rainfall recorded for June (year) Almerta 9mm, Carrieton 10.8mm (116.2) Eurelia 15mm (89.6), GlenRoy 10mm (107.4) Johnburgh 19mm (118m), Moockra 5mm, Sandal Park 8mm (53.5)

Carrieton is hosting the jackpot for Northern Barrel racing league this Saturday 2nd July. Competitors travel from Port Augusta and northern towns to compete at the freshly prepared rodeo grounds. Competition starts at 10am. Visitors are welcome and canteen available in clubrooms.

Trash and Treasure on June 12th was a success with 22 varied stalls.

Carrieton Caravan Park has new brochures to take to Adelaide Caravan and Camping show on July 27th to 31st July at the Adelaide showgrounds. Thankyou to Jess Watson for preparing and organising the brochures.

The site of Carrieton Motors has a new feature. The owner has installed three flagpoles regularly changing the flags creating interest for the locals and testing their knowledge of institutions or countries the flags represent. Trash and Treasure weekend one mischievous local with the encouragement of some mates purchased an LGBT flag and replaced the Australian flag leaving it hidden in a trailer of goods nearby.

Moockra School Reunion on July the 12th was well attended by past students and one teacher on a fine sunny afternoon. The isolated one teacher school was one of over twenty within the Carrieton district and as with other schools the students often made their own way to school on push bike, ponies, some within a car driven by the teacher. Getting to and from school was a lesson of practicality and resilience. One student recalled how Dad would strap a cream can to the back of her bike for the 4 mile journey to be delivered to the Moockra railway siding before school. The cream was then taken by train to the butter factory in Orroroo. (see photos on next page)

The AGM of the rodeo retained all officers as the year before and plans are well in hand for a celebration of rodeo on New Years Eve after a two year covid lapse. Members are meeting again Friday July 1^{st} 7.30pm in the clubrooms to plan for the event.

Save the date Saturday October 22nd "The Two Marys" a Fringe show with more than ten years of sold out performances is bringing their lively show of popular music to Carrieton Memorial Hall.

Catholic Mass time: Note change of time for Saturday 2nd July to 3.30pm for the christening of Edith Watson. 6.00pm mass time will resume for the rest of the month.

Milla Gibb

Milla is a helpful class member who always looks out for her peers. She always follows the school values. She shows a great attitude towards new learning and always tries her personal best.

CHILD STUDIES AND RECEPTION STUDENTS: FUN WITH FOOD!

The senior Child Studies students learned first hand that when you combine good planning and delicious food with Reception students, it's really good fun!

Selina had conducted a presentation to the students about hand hygiene, working safely in a kitchen and always having an adult nearby to help.

Ruby supported this learning and designed an activity sheet for the students to reinforce these messages.

It's a well known fact that supported involvement in food preparation from an early age promotes good eating habits later on. Look at these little learners, each making 2 individual quiches, loaded with great ingredients. I hope families got to have taste!

Gaye Kuerschner, Child Studies Teacher

Hallee Nicholas

Hallee follows all our school values and makes an excellent role model for her classmates. She is polite, helpful in class and always keen to assist others. Her effort is outstanding and she is a good friend to her peers.

Telia Goehring

Telia has shown perseverance towards her learning and a willingness to give things a try. She is displaying an improved attitude and achieving better results.

Cameron Laskey

Cameron demonstrates an excellent work ethic across all areas of the curriculum. He is helpful, cooperative and friendly and shows initiative to take on class jobs when others are away. Cameron has displayed excellent organisation, a leader within his business group to organise a very successful Milkshake Day.

Michael 'Mick' Spry 27/12/1946 - 15/5/2022

Son of Bern and Mona (both dec'd), brother to Fran & Larry. Loving partner of Joy, cherished father of Justin, Josh and Gabi. Grand Pa of Lucas, Thomas and Layla.

A Semaphore Life Saver for many years. Loved Surfing. Concrete worker by trade. Publican Tarcowie and Carrieton Hotels.

Member of the Orroroo Lions Club serving as secretary for many years. Loved being a volunteer until health problems forced him to retire. He encouraged more people to join the Lions. Always worked on the donut van.

Involved in community studies with the students at the school through the Lions. He was always there to help and support the Lions raise funds for various community projects.

Mick also there when the older was ladies needed help fixing gutters. bird general cages, doors and maintenance. His saying was "how can I charge these ladies when they needed help to be independent".

Dorrie would see him in the street and say 'I haven't received a bill' - his reply 'don't hold your breath waiting'.

A 90 year oid lady couldn't lock her back door - Mick fixed it. "How can I charge an old lady who can't lock her back door when she goes to bed at night".

Betty would often bring Michael her homemade cream puffs in appreciation for the work he did for her, which he loved. The list goes on.

We sincerely thank everyone for cards, phone calls, flowers and personal expressions of sympathy following the passing of Mick.

We would also like to thank the staff at the Medical Centre, Orroroo Hospital, Ambulance and CFS for their help and care.

He never charged these ladies.
